A project of JNF's Israel Advocacy and Education Department

On-line Resource Center: www.jnf.org/yourpage www.jnf.org/yourpage is JNF's on-line educational resource center for teachers and families of children in kindergarten - grade 8; featuring interactive games, stories, crafts, recipes, and e-greetings relating to Jewish themes. The site maximizes Jewish engagement in ways that are joyous, relevant, and intergenerational.

Description of www.jnf.org/yourpage:

The site's interactive games, puzzles, stories, crafts, recipes and e-greetings are changed seasonally and are available at no cost.

www.jnf.org/yourpage is utilized at schools and in homes to engage, educate and energize students and families about the land and people of Israel, the environment and Jewish values.

Activities on the site are organized in a user-friendly fashion. On the Teacher's Take-out page, teachers can find activities organized by topic, for example, holidays, Israel, water, or freedom. Activities appear in a printer-friendly version for teachers to print out and use in the classroom at no charge. The e-greetings have printable versions, which can be used by teachers as motivational certificates. At home, children earn points as they play each interactive game on-line. When they earn 500 points, a personalized certificate pops up, which children can design, print out and color. Teachers can have students bring these certificates to school as part of an enrichment program, incorporating JNF's work into the classroom. Parents and grandparents, together with their children, can enjoy activities found on the site.

Goals:

- To engage, educate and energize students with interactive activities.
- To provide teachers with enrichment materials for students about Israel, Jewish holidays and values, the environment and the work of JNF.
- To provide families with intergenerational activities that bring JNF into the home.
